

The Cato Institute and the Intercollegiate Studies Institute invite you to

What Should Be a Culture of Enterprise in an Age of Globalization?

Thursday, March 29 * 9:00 a.m. – 3:00 p.m.

The Cato Institute * 1000 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W. Washington, DC 20001

Free of charge

Reservations: events@cato.org, 202.789.5229

This inaugural conference features presentations by all recipients of the prestigious 2006 Templeton Enterprise Awards. These awards are presented annually to authors who have produced exemplary books and articles on the relationship between humane economics and culture throughout the world. The 2006 award recipients will be joined by other nationally recognized experts. Each panel will address, from a variety of compelling perspectives, what a culture of enterprise should consist of in our age of global economic competition. The presentations will focus on the urgency of striking a balance between “culture” and “enterprise” – crucial today as global capital and labor markets alter the traditional routines of economic life in first-, second-, and third-world societies.

9:00 – 10:30 Panel 1: Book award winners

Thomas E. Woods Jr. – Author of The Church and the Market (Lexington Books).

Olaf Gersemann – Foreign News Editor, Financial Times Deutschland; author of Cowboy Capitalism (Cato Institute).

John Meadowcroft – Professor of Public Policy, King’s College, London; author of The Ethics of the Market (Palgrave Macmillan).

10:30 – Noon Panel 2: Article award winners

Kevin Schmiesing – Research Fellow, the Acton Institute; author of “Another Social Justice Tradition: Catholic Conservatives” (University of St. Thomas Law Journal)

Bryan Caplan – Professor of Economics, George Mason University, co-author of “Mises, Bastiat, Public Opinion and Public Choice” (Review of Political Economy)

Edward Stringham – Professor of Economics, San Jose State University, co-author of “Mises, Bastiat, Public Opinion, and Public Choice” (Review of Political Economy)

Noon – 1:00 Lunch

1:00 – 2:30 Panel 3: National Experts

Tom G. Palmer – Senior Fellow, Cato Institute

Fadi Haddadin – Editor, www.lampofliberty.org, a Cato Institute Arabic-language Web magazine, and former analyst at the World Bank

John D. Mueller – Director, Economics and Ethics Program, Ethics and Public Policy Center

Robert Royal – President, Faith & Reason Institute